Valued Customers,

Our goal has always been to learn how players and coaches practice their sport, then take that knowledge combined with our experience and innovation to develop the best practice equipment possible. You as a consumer have many choices when it comes to purchasing practice equipment. We have found this to be especially true when it comes to batting cage netting.

I'd like to take a few moments to tell you why JUGS nets are your best choice for quality and value. After 46 years we have tested them all—nylon, polyethylene, square and diamond mesh, knotted and knotless. All batting cage nets are not created equal.

JUGS Black Twisted Polyethylene Netting is of the highest quality and is the best value for over 90% of those purchasing batting cage netting.

Our #96 Black Polyester Netting is the longest lasting material that you can buy and offers a commercial toughness for those that require professional grade netting.

All JUGS nets are designed specifically for baseball and softball so that they can stand up to the constant pounding from today's bigger and stronger players. We are the experts in the netting business. I hired baseball and softball coaches so that when you call you are talking to someone who completely understands your needs and can provide you the most effective solution. The JUGS sales staff has helped over 110,000 teams install batting cage nets in the last 46 years. Nobody else in our industry comes close to that level of experience.
